CURRICULUM VITAE

Stephen F. Sener^{MD}

Stephen Francis Sener, M.D.

Stephen F. Sener MD
Brief Introduction

Dr. Sener is a native Chicagoan. He graduated from Northwestern University Medical School and subsequently completed the general surgery residency training program at Northwestern University. This training included six months at the National Cancer Institute in Dr. Steve Rosenberg's lab and one year as the American Cancer Society Clinical Fellow with Dr. Edward Scanlon at Evanston Hospital.

After finishing his general surgery residency training, Dr. Sener spent two years as a Surgical Oncology Fellow at Memorial Sloan-Kettering Cancer Center, the last year as the Chief Fellow. His mentors there included Dr. Murray F. Brennan.

Once his oncology training was completed in 1984, Dr. Sener returned to Northwestern University and Evanston Northwestern Healthcare (now NorthShore University HealthSystem (NSUHS)). During his time there, he was promoted to Professor of Surgery at Northwestern University Feinberg School of Medicine and to Vice-Chairman of the Department of Surgery at NSUHS. He served as Associate Director for the Residency Training Program in Surgery at Northwestern from 2000-'02 and in 2007.

In September 2009, Dr. Sener was recruited to the University of Southern California Department of Surgery by Dr. Vaughn Starnes to become chief of a newly-created Division of Surgical Oncology. He is the Program Director for the Breast Surgery Fellowship (accredited by the Society of Surgical Oncology). And, he is the Associate Program Director for the General Surgery Training Program (which he swore he would never do again). In April 2015, he was appointed as Chief of Surgery and Medical Director for Perioperative Services at LAC+USC (LA County) Hospital.

He has been a long-term volunteer for the American Cancer Society, beginning in 1984 as a member of the Illinois Division's Cancer Incidence and End Results Committee. He was President of the Illinois Division in 1993-'94 and was on the National Board of Directors of the ACS from 1993 through 2006. Notable among National ACS activities, he served as chairman of the National Breast Cancer Advisory Council (responsible for breast cancer screening guidelines), chairman of the National Research and Medical Affairs Committee, and founding chairman of the Global Strategies (International) Advisory Committee. He was elected to a leadership position in the National ACS as Vice-President in 2002, and he then served as National President in 2004-'05.

He has served as the American Cancer Society representative to the American Joint Committee on Cancer, the Commission on Cancer, and the Society of Surgical Oncology.

After almost a decade serving on the editorial board of the Journal of Surgical Oncology, he became the Editor-in-Chief in 2013.

Dr. Sener would tell you that one of the most gratifying projects of his professional career was the establishment in 2005 of the One Million Women Program for breast cancer screening mammography in China, on behalf of the American Cancer Society and the Chinese government.

A. Education

High School	Saint Ignatius High School, Chicago, Illinois, 1968
University	Northwestern University College of Arts and Sciences, Evanston, Illinois, Department of Chemistry: Bachelors of Arts, 1972
Graduate School	Northwestern University Medical School Evanston, Illinois: qualified for Ph.D., Department of Biochemistry, 1975
Medical School	Northwestern University Medical School, Evanston, Illinois, M.D., 1977
Internship	Northwestern University Medical School, Evanston, Illinois, Department of Surgery, Division of General Surgery, July 1977-July 1978
Residency	Northwestern University Medical School (Surgery), Evanston, Illinois, July 1977-July 1982 Northwestern University Medical School (Chief Resident in General Surgery), Evanston, Illinois, July 1981-July 1982

Fellowships

Evanston Hospital Department of Surgery, American Cancer Society Clinical Fellow (CF4980-1), Evanston, Illinois. July 1981-July 1982

Memorial Sloan-Kettering Cancer Center, Department of Surgery (Surgical Oncology), New York, NY, July 1982-July 1984

Memorial Sloan-Kettering Cancer Center, Department of Surgery, (Chief Surgical Oncology), New York, NY, July 1983-July 1984

Visiting Fellowships

National Cancer Institute, Bethesda, MD (Steven A. Rosenberg, M.D., Ph.D., Director), July through December, 1979.

Instituto nazionale per lo studio e la cura dei tumori, Milan, Italy (Umberto Veronesi, M.D., Director), July through September, 1984.

Honors and Awards

1. Department Honors, Northwestern University, Department of Chemistry, 1972.
2. Second Annual Capitol Dome Award, National American Cancer Society, presented for advocacy on public health policy issues, 1995.
3. National Breast Cancer Awareness Month Profiles in Progress Corporate Leadership Award. Recipient on behalf of Evanston Northwestern Healthcare and Nordstrom for establishment of mammogram facility at Nordstrom's in Skokie, Illinois, 1997.
4. Outstanding Surgery Faculty Teacher of the Year, Northwestern University Medical School, Department of Surgery, 1998 and 2004.
5. American Cancer Society, National Award, St. George Medal (highest national award for voluntary service to the ACS), in recognition of outstanding contributions to cancer control policy, Atlanta, Georgia, 1998
6. Organized a seven-member operating team from Evanston Northwestern Healthcare, which performed a ten day surgical humanitarian mission to Central Clinical Railroad Hospital Semashko, Moscow State University, Moscow, Russia, 1998. Invited by Prof. Sokolov, Chancellor of Moscow State University. All trips to Moscow included operative and hospital clinics, and city-wide educational symposia.
7. Returned to Moscow State University Central Semashko Hospital with twelve-member operating team, 5/20-5/27/00.

8. Invited presentation. "Sentinel Lymphadenectomy for Breast Cancer" to Moscow Surgical Society and Russian Academy of Medical Sciences, October 5, 2000. Invited by Prof. Lutsevich MD, President of Moscow Surgical Society.
9. Organized thirteen-member surgical humanitarian mission to the Oncologic Center, Riga, Latvia, 2001.
10. Organized a ten-member operating team and returned to Moscow State University Central Clinical Hospital Semashko, 10/25-10/31/03. Acted as design consultant for new Semashko Hospital to Dr. Oleg Atkov, former Russian Cosmonaut and Director of the Russian Clinical Railroad Hospitals.
11. Invited to lead an American Cancer Society delegation to the People's Republic of China, 11/17/03-11/26/03, guest of Wang Langde MD, Health Minister of China, and Wu Fan MD, Director of China Centers for Disease Control.
12. Initiated the first screening mammogram program in China (One Million Women Breast Cancer Screening Program), under auspices of Chinese government (Wang Longde, Health Minister) and Chinese Anticancer Association (Dr. Xu, President), with ACS (SFS et al) in an advisory role, February 2005.
13. Invited Participant in 'Surgeons as Leaders' course sponsored by the American College of Surgeons, Chicago, Illinois, April 9-12, 2006.
14. Organized and led a 13 member operating team to Peking University, Beijing Cancer Hospital, Beijing, China, on behalf of the American Cancer Society and Evanston Northwestern Healthcare, 5/7/06-5/14/06. Invited by Jin Gu MD, Chair of Surgery at BCH. Included hospital and operative clinics, as well as a Chinese National educational program for Surgeons.
15. Selected for 'Who's Who in America' from 2007-'17.
16. President, Midwest Surgical Association 2012-'13.
17. Honorary Membership in Brazilian Society of Surgical Oncology, 2017.

B. Professional Background

Academic Appointments

Instructor, Northwestern University Medical School Department of Surgery, Evanston, Illinois, 1981-'82.
Associate, Clinical Surgery, Northwestern University Medical School, Evanston, Illinois, 1984-'87.
Assistant Professor Clinical Surgery, Northwestern University Medical School, Evanston, Illinois, 1987-'92.
Associate Professor Clinical Surgery, Northwestern University Medical School, Evanston, Illinois, 1992-'94.
Associate Professor Surgery, Northwestern University Medical School, Evanston, Illinois, 1994-'98.
Professor of Surgery, Northwestern University Medical School, Evanston, Illinois, 1998-2009.
Visiting Professor of Clinical Surgery, Keck School of Medicine, University of Southern California, 2009-2012.
Professor of Surgery, Clinical Scholar, Keck School of Medicine, University of Southern California, Los Angeles, California, 2012-present.

Clinical Administrative Appointments (Major)

Associate Director, Kellogg Cancer Care Center, Evanston Hospital, Community Clinical Oncology Program (CCOP) as designated by the National Cancer Institute, 1987-2009.
Head, Division of General Surgery, Evanston Hospital, 1996-2001
Vice-Chairman, Department of Surgery, Evanston Northwestern Healthcare, 1999-2009.
Coordinator, Graduate Surgical Education, Evanston Hospital, 1984-2000.
Associate Program Director, Department of Surgery, Northwestern University Medical School, 2000-'02 and 2007.
Chief, Division of Surgical Oncology (now Breast, Endocrine, and Soft Tissue Surgery), Keck School of Medicine, University of Southern California (2009-present).

Program Director, Breast Surgery Oncology Fellowship (accredited by the Society of Surgical Oncology), University of Southern California Keck School of Medicine, 2009-present.
Clinical Council of Norris Comprehensive Cancer Center, co-chair, (2010-'12).
Coordinator, USC Department of Surgery Core Curriculum for General Surgery Residency Training Program (2012-2016).
Associate Program Director, General Surgery Training Program, University of Southern California Keck School of Medicine, 2014-present.
Chief of Surgery and Associate Medical Director of Perioperative Services, LAC+USC (LA County) Hospital, 2015-present.

Specific Teaching Responsibilities

- a. Year III Medical Students
Regular meetings (two per student rotation) with medical students for scheduled lectures and bedside/operating room teaching activities.
- b. Student Electives
Undergraduate and medical students may elect to spend more individualized periods with the Surgical Oncology Service, including research activities and electives.
- c. Lecture Series
I deliver a regularly scheduled series to medical students (two per junior/senior year rotation), residents and fellows on an annual basis, consisting of 12-15 hours of formal presentations.
- d. Residents and Interns
The majority of teaching at the clinical level consists of participation in rounds, bedside consultations, specialty clinics, and supervision in the operating rooms at LA County+USC and Keck Hospital of USC.

I became the Associate Program Director for the General Surgery Training Program at USC in 2014.
- e. Post-Graduate
I am the Program Director (2009-present) of the USC Breast Surgery Fellowship, which is accredited by the Society of Surgical Oncology to train three fellows in breast surgery per year.

Hospital Appointments

Adjunct Staff, Evanston Hospital, 1984-'85

Assistant Attending Surgeon, Evanston Hospital, 1985-'87
Attending Surgeon, Evanston Hospital, 1987-'94
Senior Attending Surgeon, Evanston Northwestern Healthcare (now NorthShore University HealthSystem), 1994-2016.
Faculty Attending Staff, Keck Medical Center, 2009-present.

E. Research Activities

Major Areas of Research Interest

Dr. Sener began his basic science research career investigating the etiology of hyaline membrane disease in neonates, helping to identify the pathway of surfactant synthesis in the Mavis Laboratory at Northwestern University Medical School Department of Biochemistry.

Subsequently, as a surgical resident in the Northwestern program he contributed to the elucidation of the natural history of radiation-induced thyroid cancer at the Evanston Hospital Thyroid Evaluation Clinic, under the auspices of Edward F. Scanlon MD.

Perhaps Dr. Sener's most significant contributions have been in outcomes research, beginning at a time when survival analyses for cancer were referred to as "end results reporting." As a junior faculty member at Northwestern, he served as the volunteer Chairman of the Cancer Incidence and End Results (CIER) Committee of the American Cancer Society (ACS) Illinois Division in the mid to late 1980's. This was at a time when there was no formal cancer registry system in Illinois, leaving the task of mortality results reporting to the ACS and the CIER Committee.

Dr. Sener and his colleagues were among the first to report disparities in outcomes within Illinois from breast, ovarian, and pancreatic cancers related to patient insurance status, geographic location, and hospital volumes. Making individual hospital results visible to the public at that time facilitated the evolution of the concepts of 'quality care' and 'health care access' into current lexicon and consciousness. Indeed, the ACS CIER Committee in Illinois and other early state cancer registries led to the development of the National Cancer Database by David P. Winchester MD (partner of SFS at Evanston) et al. at the Cancer Department of the American College of Surgeons. The database is currently housed within the Commission on Cancer and serves as a significant resource for the evaluation of cancer care for about 85% of all cancer patients diagnosed annually in the USA.

Two areas of focus from Dr. Sener's peer-reviewed publications are noteworthy: first, a new surgical technique was created and perfected, in which conventionally unresectable liver and vena cava tumors were resected and vessels reconstructed using cardiopulmonary bypass and circulatory arrest (references 40 and 57); second, a substantial body of work came directly from the clinical research breast cancer database which Dr. Sener established in 1988 and maintained until 2009. Dr. Sener and colleagues were among the first surgical investigators to systematically study and report the technique and outcomes from sentinel node mapping in breast cancer (reference 49). Among these publications was the first report in the Russian surgical literature on the use of radio-isotopes to map sentinel nodes for breast cancer (reference 56). Perhaps the most significant work from this database was published in 2009 (reference 77), which described the effects of hormone replacement therapy on the biology and survival rates of breast cancer.

Research in Progress

Research goals for 2009-2017 will be related to clinical research in breast cancer and creating working relationships with basic research scientists at Norris Comprehensive Cancer Center.

1. Re-establish the breast cancer database from NorthShore at USC. Set up IRB-approved protocol to allow ongoing evaluation of data on nearly 5,000 patients in the existing database from NorthShore, link this dataset with newly diagnosed breast cancer patients at USC, and create a link between clinical information and the existing breast cancer tumor bank at USC. The eventual goal is to create a repository for basic research, which has primary breast cancer tissue and links to outcome data on each patient.
2. Clinical research trials in breast cancer.
 - As service chief, facilitate trials in innovative breast surgery techniques, such the Axillary Reverse Mapping and Intraoperative Radiation Therapy protocols and others.
 - clinical research regarding MRI and ultrasound evaluation of breast cancer patients is ongoing and has been published at USC.

Research Grants

1. "Multimedia Information for Breast Cancer Patients", $30,000
290-97-003. Agency for Health Care Policy.
Principal Medical Investigator, 1997.
